

ELTHAM CHURCHWARDENS' ACCOUNTS.

COMMUNICATED, WITH INTRODUCTION AND NOTES, BY AYMER VALLANCE.

ELTHAM church as now existing, is not the ancient fabric, which having been undermined in the process of digging a vault, collapsed in June, 1667. The new church that succeeded it, was demolished in 1873, and was in its turn replaced by the present building, opened in 1875.

Historically the parish of Eltham belongs to the Diocese of Rochester ; but, in the reshuffling consequent on the creation of the modern Bishopric of Southwark, Eltham became transferred to the new Diocese. This, of course, explains why Eltham, although in the County of Kent, is not to be found in the Parish Registers and Records of the Diocese of Rochester, 1912. It may be recalled that various benefactions to the church and parish of Eltham are recorded in the form of excerpts from early wills, Testamenta Cantiana, pp. 22-3.

The churchwardens' accounts have not been previously printed unabridged. Extracts, however, selected by George R. Corner, F.S.A., were published, with notes, in Archæologia, volume XXXIV (1852), pp. 51-64.

For the present transcript acknowledgments should be made to Mr. V. J. B. Torr, for the expert care and knowledge which he has brought to bear on his task, undertaken, moreover, in spite of pressure of other work at the time. As the event proved, Mr. Torr was unable to carry on his transcript beyond the year 1570. For permitting the manuscript to be placed temporarily at the disposal of the transcriber, thanks are due both to the Bishop of the Diocese and to the Vicar of Eltham, as well as to the authorities of the Manuscript Department at the British Museum, who kindly accepted charge of the volume for the time being while the work of transcribing was in progress.

Particular thanks are due also to Professor A. Hamilton Thompson, V.P.S.A., for kindly reading the proofs, and for his ingenious elucidations of a number of obscure points in the text.

The manuscript of the accounts forms a vellum-bound volume of 167 folios, size approximately 12 by 8 inches. The earliest item occurs under the date 12th July, 1554, whence the accounts continue almost uninterruptedly down to the latest entry on 2nd June, 1618. Here follows the first instalment of the transcript.

† William Roper, eldest son of John Roper and Jane Fyneux, his wife, was born in 1495. He became Prothonotary of the King's Bench. His estate in Eltham was Well Hall, a brick-built, moated house, part of which still stands. He married Margaret, daughter of the illustrious Sir Thomas More, Lord Chancellor of England, and left issue by her two sons and three daughters. He outlived his wife and, dying in 1577, was buried by her side in the family vault at St. Dunstan's, Canterbury.

† Sir Henry Jerningham of Costessey Hall, Norfolk, was foremost among the loyalists who, in the death of Edward VI, when a traitorous clique attempted to exclude Mary Tudor from the throne and set up Lady Jane Grey in her place, hastened to the support of the legitimate sovereign. He was rewarded by being appointed, on 31st July, 1553, Vice Chamberlain and Captain of the Guard; and it is conjectured that, in his capacity of Vice Chamberlain, he occupied the royal Palace of Eltham—hence his connection with the place.
